GENERAL CENTRAL AMERICAN OUTBREAK IS ANTICIPATED

CUSTOMS OFFICIALS IN SOUTH-ERN PORTS ARE INSTRUCTED TO LOOK FOR FILIBUSTERING EXPEDITIONS.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 — "The outbreak in San Salvador and the threatened revolt throughout Central America is only a foretaste of what may happen in all Latin America immediately after March 4," declared Chief Doyle of the Latin American division of the state department today.

"News is coming in from agents
throughout Central America that revolutionists are coming out in scores and there is every indication of an extended upheaval as soon as the present administration leaves office."

Strict orders have been issued to customs officials in New Orleans, Mobile and other southern ports to watch for filibustering expeditions.
The commanders of four gunboats
now on their way to Central American waters have been ordered to land their men the instant there is any disturbance reported on shore.

DEATH BY MEXICAN REBELS

TIE ROPES TO VICTIMS AND

CHOS THEN TURN THE HORSES
LOOSE.

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 8 — A body of Zapatist rebels ambuscaded 25
federals near Guernavaca, in More-los, took them prisoners and then tortured them to death.

The favorite method of torture by these rebels is to tie the two ropes to a victim, hitching the ends to two wild bronchos and turn the horses
loose, literally tearing the victims apart. It is persistently reported today that the Mexican cabinet will soon resign.

EXHIBITION FLIGHTS BY AVIATOR GRAY

BIRDMAN WILL SOAR FROM BEACH TOMORROW AFTERNOON

DARING AVIATOR TO PULL OFF
STUNTS IN AIR NEVER BE-FORE SEEN IN THIS PART OF COUNTRY.

Aviator Gray, who recently completed the first cross country flight ever made in an aeroplane in the state of Florida, will give his first advertised exhibition flights from the beach near the ocean pier tomorrow afternoon between 3 and 4 o'clock.
This time in the afternoon will give the aviator the benefit of low tide and will be the best time for local people to gather on the beach to watch the exhibition flights.

Mr. Gray has a reputation of being one of the most daring aviators in the business today and during his exhibition flights tomorrow will pull off some hair-raising stunts in the air never before seen in this section of the country.

The starts of these flights will be made from the beach near the pier and the aviator will alight on the beach in the same vicinity.

Another of the popular dances will be given at the Elks' home Wednesday night of next week.

Herbert Hammond of Chicago, who with William McMillan, also of Chicago, are at the head of the company developing the new town of Volusia, was in Daytona today, accompanied by Mrs. Hammond. The new town of Volusia is developing rapidly and is now assuming the proportions of a thriving village. The families of Messrs. Hammond and McMillan are spending the winter
at the Volusia Inn.

LAW IS FILED IN TRENTON

MONOPOLIZED AND ALSO RE-STRAINED.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 — A suit
in equity under the anti-trust law was today filed in Trenton, N. J., against the United Shoe Machinery company of New Jersey, the Keighlease of seam trimming machines" is monopolized and restrained.

ACTRESS FOUND BADLY HURT IN ROOM IN HOTEL.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 8 —
Miss Olga Wells, a member of the Walker Whiteside theatrical company, was found in a room in a hotel here today with a fractured skull and a badly bruised body. Her clothes were torn and scattered, indicating a fierce struggle. J. K. Martin is being sought by the police.

J. G. Brown is carrying his right arm in a sling as the result of a little mixup Wednesday evening of his car and a wagon. Mr. Brown in avoiding a collision with a buggy
driven by a lady, struck a wagon, driven by a negro man and although little damage resulted to the wagon
and none to the auto, the impact dislocated Mr. Brown's right arm at the shoulder. Dr. Roy Howe put the arm in place for Mr. Brown and stated at the time that it was the reverse of the ordinary dislocation,
as the bone was thrown backward
instead of forward.

the points of revolvers.

The millinery opening at Miss M.
Ella DeVoy's store yesterday and today attracted much attention from the feminine population of this city and vicinity. The rooms had been very tastefully decorated and the display of spring millinery, including all the latest styles, was most excellent and attractive, the hats in great variety being works of art in millinery.

nati, Ohio, an aunt of Mrs. S. C.

GOT HIS NOTES MIXED UP

Absent-Minded Man Has Some Difficulty at the Book Store and the Grocers'.

As the little man walked absent-mindedly along the sidewalk he suddenly stopped in front of a bookstore. It recalled to him the meaning of that piece of string on his finger, and with a brightened face he entered.

"Just a minute," he said to the clerk. "My wife wanted me to get a book for her—a certain novel she's heard a good deal about. I must find the memorandum she gave me. She wrote the name on a slip of paper, and I put it in my pocket."

After considerable fumbling he produced a small bit of paper, and laying it on the counter, took out his spectacles and adjusted them on his nose.

"Here's the name—Cobb's Cornatine. Yes, that's it."

"I—I'm afraid I don't know the book, sir," said the clerk apologetically. "but I'll look through the list of new ones." And he ran his eye over the list on the wall. "No, I'm sorry to say I can't find it here. You are sure of the name?"

"Yes, it's right here on this piece of paper."

"Well, I'm afraid we haven't got it then."

"But—but I don't dare to go home to my wife without it. I promised to get it for her."

The clerk called to another in the back of the store, who came forward. To the other he said: "Say, Bill, do you know of a book called Cornatine, by a fellow named Cobb?"

"What's that?" he asked in surprise.

The old gentleman broke in: "Cobb's Cornatine. Here, see for yourself."

"I'm afraid you've made a mistake," said the new arrival with a twinkle. "Cobb's Cornatine is a new breakfast food."

"Ah, now I see why the grocer didn't understand me when I asked him for a package of Queed," remarked the customer in manifest relief. —G. Kaemmerling in Puck.

From an old notebook comes this recipe for making a cement to mend broken china: Fill a small bottle with ground isinglass and pour over it sufficient unsweetened gin to fill the bottle. Place it on the back of the stove or in a warm place, immerse in a vessel of hot water until the isinglass is dissolved, and the cement is ready for use.

The finest resort hotel in the world is being built at Sunset Mountain Asheville, N. C.

Absolutely Fireproof Will open July 1st

Wm. S. KENNEY, manager

MR. E. W. GROVE, of St. Louis, Mo., is building the finest resort hotel in the world, to be opened July 1st, 1913. It will be absolutely fireproof, and is being built of the great boulders of Sunset Mountain, at whose foot it sits. It is being built by hand in the old-fashioned way. Full of rest and comfort and wholesomeness.

¶ The front lawn is the hundred-acre eighteen-hole golf links of the Asheville Country Club, and with it sixty acres of our own lawn.
¶ The purest water obtainable anywhere, piped seventeen miles, from the slopes of Mount Mitchell, over 6000 feet altitude. Biltmore milk and cream exclusively, supplied from 200 registered Jerseys on the estate of Mr. Geo. W. Vanderbilt. It is doubtful if this famous dairy is equaled in the world.

¶ Four hundred one-piece rugs are being made at Aubusson, France. Seven hundred pieces of the furniture are being made by hand by the Roycrofters. The silver will be hand-hammered.

¶ The plumbing material will be the finest that has ever been placed in any hotel in the world. The soil pipe has been hydraulically tested and then galvanized. The hot water pipe, 18,000 lbs. in weight, will be solid brass. The steam pipes are Byers' genuine lap-welded wrought iron tested hydraulically to 1000 lbs. The bathtubs and fixtures all solid porcelain. No pipes visible anywhere. No radiators to be seen—all placed in recesses under windows. No electric bulbs to be seen.

¶ The "Big Room," or what some call the lobby, is 80 feet by 100 feet and the rugs in this one room will be worth $5000.00. The two large places in it will burn twelve-foot logs.

¶ For the golfers we are building lockers and shower bath rooms with a forty-foot swimming pool that will not be excelled by the finest clubs in existence, and the players will be less than 100 yards distant when they are on the links.

¶ Mr. Wm. S. Kenney, of Bretton Woods, N. H., who has shown in his management of The Mount Washington hotel and Hotel Clarendon, that he is the peer of hotel keepers, will manage the Inn.

¶ We own eight hundred acres around the Inn (consumptives not taken).

¶ Especially available for northern guests in the Spring, Fall and Winter, going or returning from farther southern resorts, or for an all Winter resort.

¶ The Inn is located on the side of Sunset Mountain, about a mile from the top, and is not only cool enough in the Summer to make a blanket necessary at night, but is protected and mild enough in the Winter to make life enjoyable without encumbrance.

ABOUT CEMENT JOINTS.

Editor Daily News:—

As it is the intention to extend the gas mains already laid and to make the pipe joints with the "cement joint method," will you kindly give space to this letter relative to the "cement joint method" in order that there may be given a correct explanation of this, the modern joint.

The "cement joint" is no experiment. It has been tried on pipes of small and large diameters and it has been proven that it has more in its favor than any other method used.

It is not the cement alone which makes the joint, the best yarn is used and has as much to do with the joint as the cement. The cement joint is made up of a series of yarn sections and cement sections, each being driven up tight against the preceding one. Special care is taken of the cement mixing and the result is a gas tight joint which will last as long as the pipe.

It has been said that cement allows for no expansion or contraction. It has been proven that the expansion and contraction is not as great as generally supposed, or else the molecular action within the pipe itself takes care of it.

A cement joint is not subject to electrolysis as are other joints. A cement joint, when properly made, will remain tight under almost any possible condition.

A line of pipe laid with cement joints will show fewer small leaks than a line laid with any other method.

I have heard it said in Daytona that these cement joints will leak as much gas as is sold.

I have also heard it said in Daytona that the Halifax river water will make short work of the concrete piles used in the new bridge.

The logic of the two remarks is equal.

If a workman makes a poor joint it does not condemn the cement joint any more than when a clergyman fall it condemns religion. Yours truly,

F. A. WOODHEAD.

JUST GOSSIP

BY THE GOSSIPER.

The exciting race for mayor will come to a close next Wednesday, but this fight won't have any bearing on F. D. Spring. "Pap" will hold over as mayor of Ivy Lane.

Although there has been little excitement attending the race of candidates for offices in the city election to be held next Wednesday, there are indications the candidates have been doing a lot of quiet work among their friends, and it is likely the full qualified vote will be cast in the election. Voters who have not yet made up their minds how to cast their ballots have but a few days left to reach a decision.

If transfers of real estate are an indication of the prosperity of a community and a forecast of future growth, Daytona is certainly booming at this time and will continue to grow for some time. More real estate has changed hands in this city and vicinity during the past month than ever in the same length of time in the history of the city and the coming summer will see the erection of more winter homes than in any past summer. The present season is a banner one, but next season will be greater.

Drunken automobile drivers in the state of New York now face a fine of $500 and imprisonment for one year, by the provisions of a new law. Daytona is located in a prohibition county and not so likely to have occasion to punish intoxicated drivers of automobiles, but there would probably be no objections raised in any part of the state if the legislature of the state of Florida should make a cue from the state of New York and enact a similar law. Several accidents in this vicinity recently have proved it is possible for the drivers of automobiles to sometimes be off the wagon even in "dry" territory, and there is nothing more dangerous to life, limb and property than a drunken man handling the wheel of an automobile.

Moving picture film manufacturing companies have been doing a big business in Florida this winter, and several of the cities of the state will benefit through this splendid means of advertising throughout all parts of the country. This list of cities, however, does not include Daytona, for the simple reason that somebody has been asleep. St. Augustine, Jacksonville and St. Petersburg are the Florida cities which will be most widely advertised by these moving picture films because arrangements were made with the manufacturing companies to take their actors and outfits there to make the pictures for the advertising benefits to be derived. A representative of one of these companies was in Daytona early in the season, but met with no encouragement in his proposition to bring a company of actors here and the matter was dropped. If St. Augustine, Jacksonville and St. Petersburg can furnish beautiful settings for out of doors pictures taken in winter-time, Daytona can certainly furnish many more beautiful settings, and this matter is one the local board of trade might well consider for another season.

This recent bulletin issued by the superintendent of this division of the Florida East Coast railroad, to the engineers, calling attention to the complaints about whistling within the city limits of Daytona, and warning the engineers that if the authorities of Daytona have occasion to resort to law to stop the nuisance the engineers will be made to suffer for it, practically puts the matter of stopping the nuisance up to the mayor and city officers. There is no question but that the continuous blowing of whistles by the engineers of some of the night trains is a nuisance, and the division superintendent realizes that if necessary the people of this city can resort to the law to have it stopped. The people of this city certainly want some of the unnecessary whistling stopped, complaints have been made to the railroad officials repeatedly, the engineers have been warned, and the matter is now up to the mayor.

Did you ever see a bunch of hungry galeots turned loose in a big kitchen, where there was about everything desired in the way of eats and drinks spread out in tempting array, with hands and feet loose and nothing to stop them from "hopping to it?" If you haven't, and even if you have, you should have seen the inside of Commodore Burgoyne's kitchen last night. Ye gods, what a bunch of wolves! To begin with the commodore had invited a number of friends up to the house in the evening to listen to music by the Saracina band, because the weather was too disagreeable for the regular evening concert to be given on Beach street, and as additional entertainment, the commodore tossed in a few selections on the pipe organ and Victrola. But the real hospitality of the commodore was shown when he invited his guests into the kitchen and told them to help themselves. Did they do it? With eats and drinks enough in sight to satisfy twice the number, and with nothing in the world to stop them—did they do it? Well, they didn't stand back and look and wait for somebody to pass things, and so far as an eye witness was able to see each one used both hands in the operations, too. The commodore himself led the onslaught, ably assisted, of course, by J. L. Wallace, and with L. G. Lyman and Fred Niver lending a helping hand. But the real onslaught didn't get a start until Doc Pierson and Don Morris lined up at the table and got busy. Lord, what capacities. "Doc" Hankins appropriated the space at one corner of the table and Fitz grabbed the other, and this action crowded Fred Conrad, F. M. Rowe and W. C. Smith down along the side, but still within reach of things. "Father" Booth isn't very tall, but he sure has got some reach. Lawrence Thompson planted himself at front of the spot where the spread meat reposed, and you wouldn't have pried Neville Clark away from the salted almond dish with a crowbar. Demaree didn't have to get close to the table, because he carries long arms and knows how to use them. The commodore must surely have enjoyed the sight, as he always appears to be happiest when dispensing hospitality to his friends. Rood was there too and left for home well filled.

LUCK VS. LOW PRICES.

Luck does many things out of the ordinary, but when one store outgrows all the other stores that started at the same time and had the same opportunity, there is something more substantial than luck behind it.

The reason Cohen Brothers' establishment today covers one whole city block, has 550,000 square feet of floor space and represents an investment of $2,000,000 is because we have from the very first made prices which attracted the business. Cohen Brothers have always sold for less, and this principle which has caused us to grow so rapidly in the past, stands out more prominently now than ever before. Study carefully the prices given below and if you find they are right and mean a saving to you, there is not a firm in the south that will appreciate your business more, or will give you more satisfactory service or better merchandise.

BEED, KNOX & BEED ORANGE GROVE—18 miles, via Ormond, is one of the largest groves in Volusia county and is well worth see-

NEW SMYRNA—16 miles from Daytona, over an excellent hard surface road; this drive is said to be the prettiest in the state. At ancient fort and other historical spots, left by the colony of Andrew Turnbull.

OLD SPANISH MISSION—2 miles west of New Smyrna, reached by motor over good road. This mission is without authentic history but by many it is conceded that this is the church built by Columbus on his second voyage to America. The altar is still extant, but at a later date the building
was used as a sugar mill.

SPANISH SUGAR MILL—2 miles west of Port Orange and about 8 miles from Daytona; the machinery is still in a good state of preservation, although the mill is presumed to have been built and operated by the early Spanish settlers.

GOVERNMENT LIGHTHOUSE—a Ponce Park, 12 miles from Laytona is reached by boat or by motor on the ocean beach.

reached by motor over hard-surfaced road.

DELAND—25 miles from Daytona;
the county seat of Volusia county and seat of John B. Sleson university; a very picturesque city;
reached by motor over hard sur-
faced road.

TOMOKA RIVER—The scenic stream of Florida; reached by excursion boats which leave Daytona daily and run to the navigable head of the stream, 26 miles from the city. Generally a number of alligators may be seen in their native haunts. This is a trip no tourist should miss.

DELEON SPRINGS, 28 miles from Daytona; mammoth spring that throws out thousands of gallons of water a minute; a delightful bathing pool, and picturesque scenery. Spring is situated in an old plantation. Reached by motor over good road; a nice trip for a picnic party.

OAK HILL—hamlet, 10 miles south
of New Smyrna; several orange groves in the locality; reached by motor over hard-surfaced road.

ORMOND—six miles from Daytona;
here is located the Ormond hotel and a pretty town; nearby are the ruins of Spanish sugar mills.

TURTLE MOUND—26 miles south of Daytona; reached by boat; a mammoth mound of oyster shells supposed to have been left by a prehistoric race of people. Pottery and other antiquities have been discovered in excavating the shell.

PORT ORANGE—an attractive town 6 miles south of Daytona, can be reached by motor over hard-surfaced road; or the trip one way may be made by the road and

SENATORS' MONORAIL LINE IN OPERATION

This little car, which runs on one rail, carries twelve United States senators at a time from their office building to the capitol through the underground passage. Seated in the car for their first ride are Senator Williams of Mississippi, in front, and Senator Swanson of Virginia, in the middle seat.

SWALLOWS ARE VERY BOLD

One Builds Nest in a House and Another Establishes Home on Electric Light Lamp.

A very curious instance of boldness in swallows was recorded in 1886 from Ceylon. In this case the birds built over a lamp in the dining room; what made their choice of site more remarkable was the fact that the lamp could be raised or lowered by counter weights and the connecting chains actually passed through the mud walls of the nest.

Occasionally the bird selects a nesting site which invites comparison with the boldness of the robin. In July last a pair of swallows took advantage of the open window of an unoccupied bedroom in a house at Felmersham in Bedfordshire to begin building their nest on the curtain rod of the bed.

The return of the owner of the house and his occupation of the bed did not in the least disturb or alarm the birds, which completed the nest and brought off three nestlings within seven weeks of the house owner's return. They took no notice of the occupant of the bed when flying in and out of the window feeding their young; but the hen bird would fly off the nest if any one entered the room during the daytime.

Three years ago a pair of swallows built their nest on top of the shade of an electric lamp which hangs outside the asylum at NARBOROUGH, near Leicester.—Bally's Magazine.

"During an anti-fly campaign," writes E. K. O. to the Cleveland Plain Dealer, "one of the teachers in our public schools urged the children to bring in all the flies they could capture. The reward was to be ten cents a pint. On the following day the schoolmarm was astonished to get this question from one of her small charges: 'Teacher, we ain't got no flies at our house. Will bedbugs do just as well?'"

Too Formal.
"Are you on friendly terms with your neighbor in the apartments?" "Well, no. She's rather formal. Always sends her card when she wishes to borrow flour, and if she wants both flour and sugar she sends two cards."

ROWLADER STILL ON THE JOB

REAL ESTATE TO THE VALUE OF $10,500 TURNED OVER YESTERDAY BY THIS PROGRESSIVE DEALER.

Charles E. Rowlader, of Woodland, Michigan, is rapidly coming into local prominence as one of the best known and most active real estate promoters of this district, and yesterday through the assistance of Bingham & Thompson, agents, rounded out sales of Ridgewood property since January 1, aggregating in value something over $65,000.00.

Yesterday's transactions amounted to $10,500, and included residence lots in both ends of the city in the Rowlader subdivisions along Ridgewood avenue. In nearly every instance the lots were purchased with a view to immediate improvement, and the indications are that the coming summer will see many new bungalows and handsome residences in the course of erection. Daytona is experiencing a good, healthy, legitimate growth, justified in every way by its climate, good roads, its world-famous beach and general natural advantages, and the opportunities here for making investment are rapidly being realized and seized upon by those desirous of procuring desirable location for erection of winter homes.

Mr. Rowlader has recently purchased 1100 feet on South Ridgewood avenue and is now in process of clearing, cutting streets, constructing cement sidewalks and preparing this high, dry and splendidly situated property for the market, and within the next ten days this subdivision will have been placed in shape to offer to the public at prices within the reach of all. Numerous inquiries are being made daily for lots in this new subdivision, and when the property is properly platted and ready for sale everything points to a rush in that direction. (Advertisement.)

UNCLE SAM AND CHEROKEE BOUGHT BY CAPT. NUTTING

Capt. Ralph H. Nutting, who for several seasons has conducted an excursion business on the river from this city, Thursday purchased from Capt. L. E. Ellenwood the steamers Uncle Sam and Cherokee and will in future use them in connection with his own boats, the Southland and Rambler, for excursions to the Tomoka river, the inlet and other points of interest. Capt. Nutting is an experienced boatman, who during the summer is engaged on the Great Lakes. He is progressive and energetic and well fitted to handle the fleet of excursion boats he has acquired here.

Capt. Ellenwood, who has been engaged in the excursion business here for a number of years with great success, will hereafter devote his whole attention to his ferry business between this city and the peninsula towns of Seabreeze and Daytona Beach, adding an evening service to that already maintained.

Gifts for Filipino Tribesmen.
While traveling around among these people of the mountains the giving of presents enters a great deal into the methods of treating with them. As a rule the gifts which are acceptable are mere trifles. Among the Iligos a custom formerly required them to wear in the hair a white rooster's feather on fiesta days. More recently a strip of onion skin tissue paper an inch wide has been introduced, and it is now the universal present from the secretary on his visit. These papers are worn as a sign of holiday, and after the fiesta is over they are carefully preserved till another occasion calls them forth. The Ilongots and Calingays like beads, and a common bead of imitation agate which is worth a few centavos in Manila has its value enhanced till it is worth 50 centavos in the Iligos. Scarlet cloth is also acceptable to the Ilungots and Ilongots. One of the very highest prizes of all is the pearl oyster shell, and several of these are always taken along. A great deal of discretion must be exercised in giving such presents, so as not to cheapen them, nor to place them in the hands of the wrong people.—Manila Times.

A Delicate Point.
"They are a happy Sewell couple. They haven't been married very long. In fact, the honeymoon has barely waned. An elderly friend met the bridegroom down town yesterday and slapped him on the back."

"Well, happy as a lark, I suppose?" "Oh, yes."

"How's the cooking?" "I have no trouble there. It's just this, my wife has been preparing angel food every day for dinner."

"You must be getting tired of it." "I am. Yet I feel a hesitancy about saying anything. How soon after the honeymoon would it be proper to ask for beefsteak and onions?"

TWO SPLENDID PLAYS GIVEN BY STUDENTS OF SEABREEZE

YOUNG PEOPLE PLEASINGLY ENTERTAIN LARGE AUDIENCE ON STAGE AT THE NEW DAYTONA THEATER.

Two short and snappy plays were presented by the high school students at the New Daytona theater last night to a representative audience from Seabreeze and Daytona Beach.

The first drama, "A Quilting Party in the Thirties," presented a charming picture of "ye olden times." The scene is laid in the Redthorn dining room. Persis birthday party on hand. Elder Elliott, Luther Ward, who believes in melancholy tunes, has dropped in on them when they are planning a dance. Henry Hollister, Jack Strother, the schoolmaster, lead in a doleful song. Grandma Pamela Redthorn, Leota Coburn, an old sweet heart of the elder's, wins his sympathy for the fun and he unbends and joins in the dance, the Virginia reel. The story is quaint and sweet; was well chosen and splendidly carried off by those taking part, the old times costumes and the bright young faces lending pleasing contrast to each other. One of the best hits of the evening was Grandma's song, which was rendered by Miss Coburn in a sweet, clear voice.

"In Office Hours," which followed the "Quilting Party," called the audience back to the briskness and business methods of the present day. Dr. Roger Elliot, Jack Strother, is an impetuous young fellow, and for the sake of economy he shares his office with a woman practitioner, Irene Keating. They meet and develop a great liking for each other. The lady doctor has a sudden rush of business and consults Dr. Elliot about some of her cases. Among the most pronounced freak cases, Olga Bowen, Mrs. Shipwix, Miss Golf, Gertrude Bishop, and Mr. Wobblamore, Joe Green, are especially felicitous in their parts. Irene Keating as Dr. Sallie Floyd was a bright particular star, and was splendidly sustained by the various others who took part. Indeed, "In Office Hours," sparkled all the way through with fun. As a specialty, a solo by Miss Lois Van Valzah was enthusiastically received, and the young singer was recalled.

At the close the dispersing audience expressed their high appreciation of the evening's entertainment. The cast of characters was as follows:

"In Office Hours"—
Doctor Roger Elliot, Jack Strother.
Mr. Wobblamore, Joe Greene.
Mr. Hustleton, Cochran Keating.
Mr. Van Sheekles, Charlie Freeman.

Six Years Building a Clock.

Twenty thousand minute pieces of wood entered into the construction of an elaborately ornamented Notre Dame cathedral clock made by James Calway of Skowhegan, Me. This clock, which is finely carved, stands seven feet and ten inches in height and took Mr. Calway six long years to complete.

In the upper story six folding doors open every ten minutes and the apostles appear marching in time to an air played by a large music box that is governed by the clock, each one bowing before the Savior as they pass, except the fourth one (which represents Peter), who turns his back upon the Savior, and the devil comes out of the top of the clock and blows a trumpet in honor of Peter.

The second story is in the form of a mansion with double doors in front which also open every ten minutes. Lazarus appears at the rich man's door and on bended knees asks for charity, the dogs licking his sores, and the rich man stands in the door swinging his arm as if he were throwing crumbs from his table. All these movable figures are run by machinery connected with a time movement, so as to work on the minute. The bottom story is a very elaborately designed foundation of fine inlaid work.—Scientific American.

How His Aerie Was Captured

By F. A. MITCHEL

Gallatly as a child was one of those infant phenomena who astonish everybody. His mind ran in a philosophic groove, and at twelve years of age he had found errors in the reasoning of Aristotle that had escaped the notice of Lord Bacon. His parents sent him to college, but he amused himself asking the professors questions they were unable to answer, then answered them himself. In his junior year it became evident that he was wasting his time at a university, and he left to enter upon original research on his own account.

Young Gallatly was so absorbed in his investigations that he could not bear any interruption. He was an object of curiosity, especially among young persons of his own age, who were constantly taking up his time simply to gratify a desire to gaze upon such a wonder. Girls especially annoyed him by trying to attract his attention. Consequently when he entered upon his life work and his father built him a house for the purpose the young man had it constructed as a sort of tower, with only one opening on the ground floor, the main doorway.

Notwithstanding many such obstacles thrown in the way of persons who desired to take up his time to no purpose, Gallatly was driven from the bottom to the top of his building by successive stages till, finding the top not high enough he added three stories and did all his work in the one under the roof. Various ruses having been practiced upon him to effect an entrance through the door on the main floor, he built directly under the roof one of those little pulley sheds common in old mills and had his supplies sent up on a sort of lift.

These precautions so discouraged the curious that at last Gallatly was left entirely alone. Indeed, he might have pursued his studies for a lifetime and given some new and wonderful philosophy to the world had it not been for a chit of a girl who for no other reason in the world than that she couldn't get at him made up her mind that she would. She was neither pretty nor intellectual. Indeed, almost any medium for breaking in upon the phenomenon's studies might be expected in preference to a freckle faced, red headed girl.

But, though Mehtabel Smith was not intellectual, fate favored her. Her father was a builder of aeroplanes. Mehtabel saw in this fact that what was denied to beauty, to intellect, to winning ways, had been given to her—namely, an opportunity to get at the phenomenon. While others were restricted to making attacks from the ground, she might sail in the air and hover about the windows of the great thinker, and how was he going to get away from her? Only by going below to meet a more numerous force.

There was an outpost for Mehtabel to capture before she could take the stronghold. This was her father. She must induce him to allow her to learn to manage one of his aeroplanes. She did this in the same way she proposed to bring down Gallatly—when she got at him. She put her arms around her father's neck and kept them there till she secured the promise she wanted. This faculty in women is not greatly esteemed by men, but has never been known to fail. Mehtabel took rides in an aeroplane beside an operator till she learned how to manage one herself. Then, after some practice, she was ready to put her scheme of conquest into operation.

One morning when Gallatly was struggling in his aerie with a new dimension he heard a whirling without, which he at first mistook for some great bird beating the air with its wings. He was too intent on his studies to notice it till the light was interfered with, when he looked up and saw—

What?
A red headed, freckled girl. She threw at him the only missile nature had provided her with for her purpose—a pleasant smile.

Gallatly sighed. Here was a point of attack that he had not calculated upon. It would be impossible for him to build his tower so high that an aeroplane could not reach the top. He could draw down the shade, but he couldn't study in the dark. He leaned back in his chair and looked at the girl resignedly. That was all she wanted—for that time. She gave him another smile and sailed along on her way. Gallatly didn't know but that her appearing before his window had been a matter of chance. Her going away without trying to effect an entrance disposed him to this view. Perhaps she would never come again.

But she did come again, just to smile at him and go away. After a while he began to look for her coming, and when she missed a periodical visit he was disappointed. She didn't give him time to forget her, not by any means, and every time she came she hovered longer.

One day after Gallatly had been expecting her for several days, without her coming he descended from his aerie and made a bee line for the house where she lived. After that she didn't fly to him any more.

Presently it was announced that the phenomenon had been captured by a red headed, freckled, awkward, ill favored girl.

"Goodness gracious!" exclaimed the beauties. "How in the world did she do it?"

An Ingenious Critic

By HARRY VAN AMBERG

At college my essays were always selected to be read before the class, and I was made editor of the university magazine. This led me to choose literature for my profession. I naturally looked to the author whose works were at that time considered the acme of literary method as my guide, and nothing less than the field he occupied would satisfy me. There must be no plot. Plots were for dime novels. There must be nothing demonstrative, for I and the school I proposed to enter considered that do types to be gush and fit only for those who cannot appreciate what is high bred. What I aimed at was delineation of character, proposing to take my heroes and heroines apart, examine them through a microscope and put them together again, stamping them with my own imprint, just as an eminent chemist will give a certificate for a brand of soap.

I had written several novels in this vein and had attracted the attention of the critics and persons of refined literary taste. Unfortunately I had no fortune, and I found it unprofitable to write for the few. But I would not lower my standard. As to my characters, they must needs be high bred persons, for I met no others. Not one of those I met in society would show any feeling, and I found myself depicting those who were moving about on life's stage, not as human beings, but as social automatons. Nevertheless the critics and my clientele stood by me, and I was pleased, though financially it didn't pay.

One day while traveling on a railroad train I noticed a young girl in the seat before me. She could not have been more than seventeen years old, was plainly dressed and appeared to be a model of simplicity. What was my astonishment to see her take from her satchel a copy of my last novel and begin to read it. I wondered how a person so low in the human scale could be interested in the philosophic deductions she would find in my work. I leaned forward and asked:

"Can you recommend the book you are reading?"

"I? Recommend it? It's everything to me."

"How is that?"

"I'm in the story."

"You?"

"Yes. I don't know how the author got hold of my case, but he did some how or other. He's given it perfectly, only he gives a great many reasons for my doing things that I never had at all. I suppose he made them up. I skip them."

"Oh, you do? What causes you to think that the author gives your own story?"

"Why, it's as plain as day. There's Mrs. Jarvis. She's my stepmother. Papa does what he can for me to make her treat me nice. But she won't, and sometimes she looks so tired and worn when she snaps at me—just like Mr. Jarvis in the story—that I put my arms about him and kiss him and say, like Marjory in the book, 'Never mind me, papa, dear, so long as she don't scold you.'"

I was interested. Of all my stories this one was the most human. I had been told by my admirers that in it I had not done myself justice.

"Have you read any of the author's other novels?" I asked.

"I've tried to. After I read my own story in this one I got the books out of the library, one after another, but they were all Greek to me. I suppose I like this one because it is my own story."

"What else is there about you in the book?"

"Well, for one thing I know Edith Edgingham. She's just like Edith in the book—a society girl—always going about with her nose in the air. She talks just such unintelligible things as Miss Edgingham. She's never going to marry, she says, but devote herself to some high moral purpose—you know, the girl in the book is going to do that—but she can't find a purpose high enough for her, so she only talks about it with young men of a superior type. That's like Miss Edgingham too."

"Who is your favorite author?" I asked the girl.

"Mr. Dickens."

I remembered that Mr. Dickens had not in all his books drawn the character of more than two or three persons in high life. I had reversed the order. I had not drawn but one character out of high life, the one this little girl had assumed to be herself. I wondered what would have become of my literary fame when my hundredth birthday would come round.

The train was approaching my station, and as I gathered my belongings I said to the admirer of my story:

"Thank you very much for telling me all about the book. I know the author intimately. I shall tell him all you've said about it, advise him in future to write about all kinds of persons, to leave out the parts you skipped and not to spend his time on the aspirations of such high bred girls as Miss Edgingham. Heroines like you are far more satisfactory."

"Goodby, sir," she said as the train was slowing up. "Would you mind asking him how he got hold of my case and write me about it? My address is—oh, dear, I wish I had a pencil or something!"

Those were the last words I heard, for I left the car and the only critic to whom I have ever been indebted for criticism of any value.

VEGETABLE CROP OF STATE TO BE BIGGEST EVER GROWN

WEATHER CONDITIONS HAVE BEEN FAVORABLE IN MOST SECTIONS AND MUCH STOCK IS MOVING NOW.

JACKSONVILLE, Feb. 8 — From present indications the vegetable crops of Florida will be the largest ever grown in the state. Not only will it be large but early and of good quality as weather conditions have been ideal for crops in almost ever section.

The largest increase in acreage is probably in Irish potatoes which are now going into the ground in most sections of the state. The Hastings potato belt alone has 9,000 acres planted. The tomato acreage will also show a considerable increase over last year, particularly on the East Coast. Points on the west coast will also have a substantial increase in tomatos. The celery and cabbage acreage is not as large as last year. Shipments are moving in carlots and quality and prices are satisfactory. Last week's shipment of vegetables from Palmetto broke all records, 150 cars going to northern markets.

The fall and spring lettuce crop throughout the state will cover the largest acreage ever planted. Prices, however, have been unsatisfactory up to the present time. The bean acreage is large in the Webster and Center Hill sections, also in the Gainesville and East Coast sections. The crop is now moving from the East Coast, while conditions are favorable and plants are looking fine at all bean shipping points in the central and western part of the state. Peppers, cauliflower, squash and eggplant are now moving. The cucumber acreage at Williston is larger than last year and this is also true at other points at which cucumbers are a specialty.

Favorable weather for vegetables has put the crop from three to four weeks in advance of the regular season and growing plants never showed a better outlook for an abundant yield.

His Absence Explained.

At Brentford, England, a woman complained that her husband stayed away from home for several days. She was talking volubly when the magistrate remarked that he was not surprised that her husband went away. "If you talk as glibly to him as you do to me," he added, "he would want a week's rest occasionally."

Use for Cracker Cartons.

The pasteboard boxes that crackers come in are fine to keep doughnuts or cookies in, as they will not dry up. I also use them to bake fruit cake in, as the oiled paper and stiff outside keep the cake from burning, which fruit cake is very apt to do.—Exchange.

Snubbed "Iron Duke."

The Duke of Wellington, who had a taste for anything that Napoleon had liked, applied to David the artist, who had painted Napoleon's portrait, requesting David to execute one of himself. "Sir," replied David, "I paint only historical characters."

Evil of Artificial Lakes.

According to a German investigator the artificial lakes that have been constructed at several places in his country decrease the temperature appreciably and cause an increase in the number of foggy days.

Feline Wisdom.

"If a man could only fall like a cat and land on his feet every time, this world would be a happier place." "No doubt; but if a man wouldn't take so many more chances than a cat does he wouldn't fall so often."

An Alibi.

Marrying Among the Pilgrims.

"The Pilgrims—of Plymouth Rock fame—did not believe in living single long after the death of a wife or husband," says Rev. Mr. Doran, a New England pastor. "The mother of Peregrine White, the first white child born in America, was married to Gov. Winslow when she was only 12 weeks a widow and he eight weeks a widower."

Got Any?

The full of the year always lays a special strain upon the nation's financial resources. For not only is there the money needed to move the crops, but also those great rolls of bills which prudent men, in putting away their light clothing, do not forget to forget in the pockets thereof, in order that they may come joyfully to light next summer.—Puck.

Making Amends.

"We wish to express our regret," wrote the editor of the Spiketown Blizard, "for saying in our last week's issue that our fellow editor, Dr. Grimshaw, 'abandoned a most promising career,' when he gave up the practice of medicine and went to preaching. We wrote it 'abandoned a most promising career.'"

MOTHERS' AND TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION MEETING

The regular monthly meeting of the association was held Wednesday afternoon in the school auditorium.

The time of meeting was changed
from the first to the second Wednesday of each month because of the regular meeting of the D. A. R. on the first date. The business hour was taken up with the adoption of
by-laws.

A rising vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Burgoyne for giving the children of the public school an opportunity to hear the excellent music furnished by Saracina's band. Good music should be a part of every child's education. Yet many of our boys and girls have no musical advantages, and these Friday afternoon concerts are a rare treat.

Mrs. J. P. Esch gave a most excellent paper on "The Ideal Public School," showing that the physical part should be developed as well as mental and moral and that the child should not be hindered where he is strong, to make good where he is weak.

There is a radical change taking place in the schools all over the country. The schools are being made to fit our children instead of trying to make the children fit the schools
by casting them all into one common mold.

It is generally conceded that this is the parents' problem.

The teachers will give us what we desire, but they are helpless to take the initiative.

Our school is good and we are proud of it; but we want it to be better, keeping pace with the progress of the age.

Emphatic Comment.
It was held by the duke of Wellington that the true story of the battle of Waterloo had never been written.
A contemporary relates how he once sat in a carriage with the duke and
"watched him read a ponderous quarterly of the battle of Waterloo. Against paragraph after paragraph he traced the letters 'L' or 'D. L.' with a great blunt ended pencil. I ventured to ask what these mystic letters meant. The pithy reply was: "Lie" and "Damned lie," to be sure."

Had Kept Her Bargain.
An ingenious trick "was recently played on some women of Maukland, Madras, India. They handed sums of money to a woman who said that she possessed the power of doubling the contents. The victims had their packets returned to them after seven days, when the silver coins they had contained were found to have been changed into copper ones.

Air Flight for Consumption.
If you have incipient consumption—
take a flight in an airship. Doctor Flemming, an eminent authority on tuberculosis, lecturing before the Berlin Aeronautical association, described the benefits of high altitudes upon those afflicted, and asserted that fifteen minutes' exposure to the sun's rays during an airship flight at high altitude was certain death to the bacilli of tuberculosis.

Many Deadly Weapons.
Some persons attribute all crime
to the pistol, forgetting that history tells us that more crimes were committed in the world before there were pistols. What is to prevent a person murderously inclined from obtaining and using a carving knife, an ice pick,
an ax, or hatchet, a razor or baseball bat? These all make deadly weapons.

Learning by Love Letter.
"Love letters between young men and women are an excellent method of teaching literature," says Dr. Arthur Holmes. But it must be done tactfully. We have known a young lady who broke off an engagement
because her fiancé returned her love letters with the spelling errors neatly corrected in red ink.

Accomplishing.
It is very important that the young man select his life work early and bend every energy toward accomplishing something. One of the most common causes of failure in this life lies in the fact that men do not see the importance of being thorough until it is too late.—Florence Vidette.

Last Resort.
"Do you believe in platonic friendship?" he asked. "Not," she replied,
"as long as there is a chance for anything else."—Chicago Record-Herald.
